

Accommodation Review Process

St. Alexander
W. J. Langlois

December 12, 2011

St. Joseph High School

Background

A recent Ministry of Education review has confirmed that the Board has significant excess facility capacity.

This fact, in combination with a continual decline in enrolment and its resultant reduction in revenue, as well as the identification of one or more of the schools in the Amherstburg area facing specific challenges and or conditions compelled senior administration to recommend that the Board establish the Accommodation Review Committee.

Background

In support of his recommendation for an accommodation review the Director identified that one or more of the schools in the Fontainebleau group is experiencing some or all of the following conditions:

- Well below the threshold for optimum facility usage
- Has or will experience an adverse impact on learning opportunities for students due to declining enrolment
- Reorganization could enhance program and learning opportunities
- Teaching/learning spaces are not suitable to provide programs needed and retrofitting may be cost prohibitive

Background

- Higher building maintenance expenses are being incurred than what is typical for the system and/or is in need of major capital improvements
- The consolidation of schools is in the best interest of the overall school system.
