New Resource Information Centre supports students and community

NEWS RELEASE

(Windsor, Ontario, Wednesday September 21, 2022) - Residents of Windsor’s West Side will now have access to a variety of vital resources ranging from employment counseling, job searching, training programs, and basic human need services. The UHC-Hub of Opportunities recently opened a new Resource Information Centre at St. Michael’s Catholic Adult High School at 477 Detroit Street.

“The Resource and Information Centre will offer both students, and any members of the nearby community access to a variety of resources that will allow them to thrive as they enter the workforce,” said June Muir, CEO of UHC - Hub of Opportunities. “We work closely with our clients, to understand their realities, and help move them to independence.”

The Resource and Information Centre will be open on Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. where students and community members will have access to computers, internet, phone and labour market information. They will be able to work one-on-one with staff who can guide them through their career goals, and provide clothing and food assistance as they transition into the workforce.

“Many of the adult students who attend St. Michael’s are here to finish their high school diploma so they can either move on to post secondary education or enter the workforce,” said Emelda Byrne, Director of Education for the Windsor-Essex Catholic District School Board. “The services that this new center offers will greatly enhance the programming that we offer here in an easily accessible location. This is an ideal partnership for our school board and our students.”
